AZURE DYNAMICS NAMES NEW CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Oak Park, Michigan – January 14, 2008 – Azure Dynamics Corporation (TSX: AZD & LSE: ADC) (“Azure” or the “Company”), a leading developer of hybrid electric and electric powertrains for commercial vehicles today announced the appointment of Mr. Ryan Carr as Chief Financial Officer.

Scott Harrison, Azure’s Chief Executive Officer welcomed Mr. Carr to the Company. “Ryan is a key addition to our management team and brings with him a broad array of management experience,” said Mr. Harrison. “He has the financial, operational and management skills that will help drive Azure’s growth. I am thrilled to welcome him to our talented executive team.”

Mr. Carr recently served as Chief Financial Officer for Ryko Enterprises, a leading global car wash equipment manufacturing and service organization. Mr. Carr was successful in leading a number of initiatives to improve liquidity, working capital, operational efficiencies and overall profitability. Mr. Carr has also worked in various financial and operational leadership capacities for leading global companies such as; Hayes-Lemmerz, AlliedSignal and Ernst & Young. With over 15 years of finance and operations leadership experience Mr. Carr has a solid track record of helping companies to achieve their financial objectives.

Mr. Carr will report directly to the CEO and will be responsible for all financial, information technology and human resources activities. He will be replacing Daniel P. Renzella, who resigned as Azure’s Chief Financial Officer. Mr. Renzella will support the transition as well as the Company’s strategic development in an advisory capacity. “We thank Dan for his leadership and many contributions over the past few years”, said Mr. Harrison. “Dan has played a significant role in the development and maturation of our business.”

Forward-looking Statements

This press release contains forward-looking statements. More particularly, this press release contains statements concerning Azure's business development strategy, projected commercial revenues and product deliveries.

The forward-looking statements are based on certain key expectations and assumptions made by Azure, including expectations and assumptions concerning achievement of current timetables for development programs, target market acceptance of Azure's products, current and new product performance, availability and cost of labour and expertise, and evolving markets for power for transportation vehicles. Although Azure believes that the expectations and assumptions on which the forward-looking statements are based are reasonable, undue reliance should not be placed on the forward-looking statements because Azure can give no assurance that they will prove to be correct. Since forward-looking statements address future events and conditions, by their very nature they involve inherent risks and uncertainties. Actual results could differ materially from those currently anticipated due to a number of factors and risks. These include, but are not limited to, the risks associated with Azure's early stage of development, lack of product revenues and history of losses, requirements for additional financing, uncertainty as to commercial viability, uncertainty as to product development and commercialization milestones being met, uncertainty as to the market for Azure's products and unproven acceptance of Azure's technology, competition for capital, product market and personnel, uncertainty as to target markets, dependence upon third parties, changes in environmental laws or policies, uncertainty as to patent and proprietary rights, availability of management and key personnel, and acquisition integration risk. These risks are set out in more detail in Azure's annual information form which can be accessed at www.sedar.com.

The forward-looking statements contained in this press release are made as of the date hereof and Azure undertakes no obligation to update publicly or revise any forward-looking statements or information, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, unless so required by applicable securities laws.
